Forecast for Sunday 23 Jun 2024

Weather: Low cloud pushing in from the west overnight will blanket much of the park, with rain and drizzle at times. Cloud lifting and breaking through the morning to give sunny spells, mostly clearing from midday to give more prolonged periods of sunshine through the afternoon and into the evening.

Chance of cloud-free hill tops above 800m: Likely near-nil at dawn (except perhaps some higher peaks at times), improving to 90% by midday.

Low Cloud and visibility: Low cloud with bases around 300-400m blankets much of the park through the early morning, perhaps with one or two of the highest peaks standing above the cloud top at times. Cloud lifting and breaking through the morning to be above the summits, with clearer skies through the afternoon. Visibilities very poor from dawn in low cloud and drizzle, gradually improving through the morning. By afternoon, visibilities expected to be very good.
